A young man, Edward Kirk, of Woburn, Mass., who is boarding at the Champernowne, saw the child fall in and ran to his rescue as quickly as possible. The swift current in that part of the river was fast carrying the child away when Mr. Kirk dived after him. It was a daring plunge the young man took, by those who witnessed it and with great difficulty the child was saved just in time. The mother with several other little ones occupy the house of Mrs. Frank Cook, formerly owned by George Colby near Fort McClary. The father of the child is in France. INFLUENZA MAY TIE UP SCHOOLS

Manchester, Dec. 20.—The opening of the public schools of Manchester, after the Christmas vacation, may be delayed because of the apparent prevalence of influenza in the city. Herbert F. Taylor, superintendent of schools, announced yesterday.

Twenty-four school teachers are ill. More than half of these have been stricken with influenza. At the growing rate of sickness among the teachers, Manchester's school system might have been tied up had not the Christmas recess occurred at this time.

The schools closed Wednesday until Dec. 30.

Twenty-Six New Cases Here in Day. Altogether 26 new cases of influenza were reported to the health board Wednesday. Up to yesterday a few more cases were reported. The health board requests prompt notification of new cases.

COST OF HOG ISLAND PLANT $63,300,000

Should Be Completed in 60 Days, Says Piez.

Washington, Dec. 20.—Charles Piez, general manager of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, was heard today by the Senate Commerce Committee, which has requested the inquiry into the Hog Island shipyard. Mr. Piez estimated the cost of the plant at $63,300,000. He said the yard, which has delivered one ship and has 50 keels laid, should be completed in 60 days. The minimum fees to be paid, the American International Corporation for construction of 180 ships, costing $256,000,000, Mr. Piez testified, would amount to about $8,910,000. In view of increased expenses he said, the fees would amount to only slightly more than 2 percent on the cost of production.

"Does the Emergency Fleet Corporation propose to go on building ships at the present cost?" asked Senator Harding.

"We haven't been instructed otherwise. It would be an expensive operation to quit now."

"Would you go on if it were your private enterprise?" Senator Harding asked.

"I believe I would."

When the witness said the approximate cost of these ships would be about $225 per ton, Senator Harding declared this was two or three times what other countries are paying.

Mr. Piez said England now pays about $110 per ton and that the Emergency Fleet Corporation had been controlling for cargo ships at about $190 a ton, the cost depending on the type of ship.

Mr. Piez said the emergency for ships had not passed and he recommended going ahead to meet the world tonnage shortage which he estimated at 20,000,000 deadweight tons.

The witness testified that the Quaker, the first ship completed at Hog Island, was launched Aug. 5, when about 55 per cent riveted. This, he said, was necessary to carry out the launching program which was attended by President Wilson.

Mr. Piez described the progress on the wooden ship building program. He said 134 vessels of that class had been completed, 132 launched, 169 were on the ways, while contracts for 160 had been canceled. In addition the board canceled contracts for 20 steel ships, 100 wooden hulks and suspended work on 83 steel-going hulls.

Mr. Schwab will testify when the hearings are resumed after the holidays.

PRESIDENT TO BE GUEST OF KING OF ENGLAND

(By Associated Press)
London, Dec. 19.—President Wilson probably will be the guest of King George at Buckingham palace, during his visit to England. This was officially announced tonight.

land until after the first of the year, but this has been changed to the immediate future at the urgent request of the English people.

COL. WALLACE DIED OF WOUNDS

Paris, Dec. 19.—Definite plans for the peace conference are not shaping themselves as rapidly as some of the American delegates expected. They would, in the meanwhile, President Wilson is taking advantage of the time to feel out the minds of the public of various nations that he finds that they are much in accord with his opinion, that something is necessary to assure the future peace of the world.

The American mission are employing their time and preparing for the conference, by a series of informal conferences in which members of the entente are taking part, but none of the neutrals are given any place. The President has, evidently, changed the program of his time here, for it is understood that he would not visit Eng-

Col. Elmer J. Wallace, U. S. A., whose death from wounds received in action in France, was recently announced, was well known and greatly respected in this city. Col. Wallace was for some years stationed at Fort Constitution as the commanding officer of this district and while here he made a host of friends.

He was possibly one of the best known commanding officers who has been in this district. He was a man who made a great many friends and always responded to any request made upon him from the city or state in a way of favor. He was in command during the encampment of the New Hampshire Coast Artillery and he not only gave the companies the best in the way of instruction and drill but made them feel that the work was worth while.

He has been attached to the artillery branch of the service practically all of his time in the army, with the exception of eighteen months on detached duty in the Hawaiian Islands, but on his return went back to the artillery. He went to France in April in command of a regiment of artillery and received wounds from which he died. He leaves a wife and children, who are also pleasantly remembered by many friends in this city.

RAILROAD NOTES

As soon as the H. & M. management can find the necessary seats that part of the restaurant space taken over at the depot for additional waiting room will be opened to the public. To help the holiday business it should have been opened some time ago.

The changes in passenger train service which is said to be on the way by January 1, is understood to effect mostly short runs out of Boston. It will be something unusual if the Boston branch escapes something in the way of a change of the new schedule.

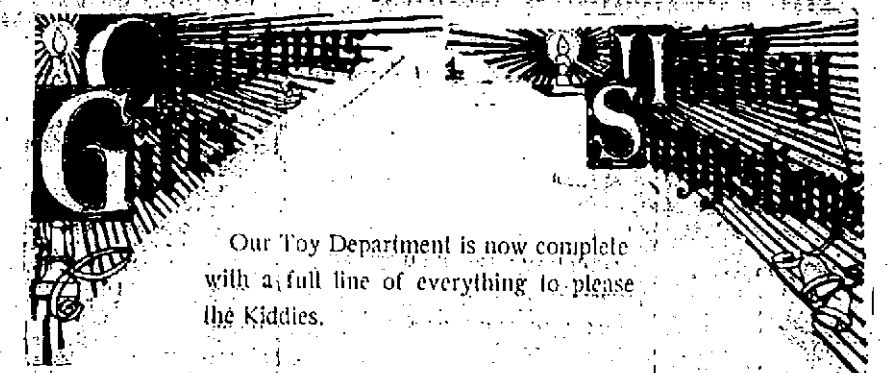

It is reported that the shop foremen engaged in the various railroad shops are making arrangements to form a brotherhood of their own for the purpose of obtaining a higher wage. It is stated that under the present arrangement many of the men who belong to organizations who have opportunities to work a small amount of overtime draw much more than their bosses. The foremen have never been affiliated with any railroad brotherhood and therefore have not figured in any of the questions as a body relative to their daily stipend.

The railroads have been advised to make special preparation for the holiday travel by providing sufficient coaches for the accommodation of the public and the order also requests that the cars be put in the best possible condition. Last year because of the war and coal shortage, unnecessary travel was discouraged but with different conditions this year, it is announced that the railroads will make every effort to meet all requirements. While the Boston and Maine and Maine Central have not as yet made arrangements for extra trains, added service will be provided if the demand is sufficient to require it.

According to an announcement by J. J. Connelly, superintendent of the Montreal division, Grand Trunk Railway, W. J. Nixon has been appointed trainmaster of the Fifth District, extending from the west yard limit at Turcot to the west yard limit at Brockville, where headquarters will be situated. V. S. Cooper, whom Mr. Nixon succeeded, has been advanced to the post of trainmaster of the Fourth District, from St. Lambert to Meville Springs, including all Rouses Point, Hemmingford, and Beauharnois branches. The Montreal division directed by Superintendent Connelly has been extended to include the Brockville terminals.

GERMANS STILL YELL FOR FOOD

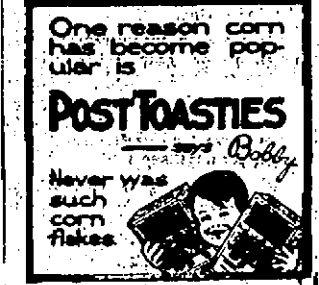

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Dec. 20.—In spite of Secretary Lansing's emphatic admonition that such communications must not be addressed to the United States alone, the German government has sent another appeal to the American government for modification of the armistice terms and for food. While it is realized that the situation in Germany is far from good, the persistent appeals are regarded here as a part of propaganda by which the authorities at Berlin hope to escape some of the results of defeat.

GREENLAND MAN SENDS IN DRAWING

Shows How Mast Can Be Spliced With No Extra Wood and Be Same Size as Before.

A Greenland mechanic who knows a thing or two about carpenter work especially that of wooden ship construction, has taken a hand in the mast splicing argument of workmen at the Shattuck shipyard and shows plainly his knowledge of wood splicing in a drawing which he has sent to the Herald office. This drawing shows a ship mast broken, spliced with the wood of the same mast resulting in the same length and size.

Regardless of the Greenland man's ideas and that of several others at the Shattuck yard, there are mechanics who still claim a mast cannot be spliced when broken off on the deck of a vessel and be the same length without using extra wood.

The Fuel Situation.

It is gratifying to know that provision for coal for the poor in Boston has been made, at least for the present, and on terms that are very reasonable in view of the present high prices. The director of distribution of fuel to the poor announces that until the end of this month 100-pound bags of coal will be sold to poor families at 55 cents per bag; the coal to be taken home by the purchasers. This is just a trifle over $10 a ton, which is not as much as coal is costing in many New England cities, and the arrangement is one for which the city is to be highly commended.

There is reason to believe that the fuel situation will not this season be as strenuous as it was last winter. Conditions through the summer and fall were such that many consumers were able to procure two-thirds of their regular supplies, and those who could do this did not fail to act. These supplies will carry those who have them well toward spring, consequently the pressure on the dealers will be by no means as great as it was last winter, when practically everybody was living "from hand to mouth" so far as fuel was concerned.

Last winter there was serious congestion of freight, owing both to war and weather conditions, and it is not at all probable that those conditions will be experienced again. The war is over, freight traffic at present is light in many parts of New England, and it looks now as if it would be possible to move all the coal that will be needed, and as fast as it is needed.

It would be idle to look for any reduction in prices before another season. These are very high—higher than they ought to be in the estimation of most people—but in view of the experiences of last winter there will be little disposition to find fault if the supply is adequate. The large amount of stone in the coal is just ground for complaint, and the fact that such stuff can be foisted upon the public at from $10 to $12 a ton is no credit to the authorities who have oversight of the business. It is a condition that will have to be corrected in time, otherwise the coal barons will hear from the public in a way not to be misunderstood.

At present the gratifying fact is that apparently there will be no actual suffering this winter for the want of coal. The price is higher than it ought to be and the quality is by no means up to the mark, but the people are not freezing and there is no probability that there will be any severe pinch.

For all this there is reason to be thankful. But the time must come when the people will have a square deal in the matter of fuel if government regulation is anywhere near what it is cracked up to be. Before another season the price of coal should be brought to a reasonable level and the quality should be brought within the bounds of decency at least. As it is now, hundreds of thousands of tons of stone are being shipped about the country and sold as coal. There is nothing right about this, and no time should be lost in correcting the abuse.

An exceptional record was that of the late Charles A. Wendell, who had served as a foreman in the local navy yard most of the time since 1874. Such a term of service in such a position speaks louder than words of a man's character and ability, and he will be long remembered as an upright man and worthy citizen.

When woman's suffrage comes it will be in spite of, and not because of, the actions of some of its advocates. The burning of copies of President Wilson's speeches in a public square opposite the White House the other day by some of the hot-headed leaders was a cheap and silly performance.

It is a relief to be informed by the Committee on Public Safety that the influenza situation in New Hampshire is not such as to cause alarm. It is certainly to be hoped that the second visitation of this malady will not be as serious as the first.

Real estate continues to move lively in Portsmouth, a fact that ought not to be overlooked by the croakers. Active real estate markets are not to be found in dead towns, or towns not having a bright outlook for the future.

Atlantic Heights is now equipped with an up-to-date piece of fire-fighting apparatus which is fully appreciated by the people there. It will be handled by a competent force and will prove a profitable investment.

Demobilization is going forward rapidly, but not too rapidly to suit the liquor interests, who are hoping for relief from the "bone dryness" prescribed by Congress to begin July 1 next.

It looks as if President Wilson might have to remain abroad a little longer than he intended, in any event, he can be depended upon to stay as long as he deems it really necessary.

TO ENTERTAIN YANKS IN LONDON

London, December 20.—Two thousand and American soldiers, sailors and marines will be entertained at turkey dinner on Christmas in 1,000 British homes, next Wednesday, thanks to thoughtful preparations made for their care. The turkey, pudding and roast beef of Merle England will be there, vying with the American turkey and cranberry sauce. While every man in the A. E. F. will get plenty of Christmas eats, and cheer, the 2,000 lucky ones will fare better.

It's all a part of the programme of the International Hospitality League of the Y. M. C. A. They provide hospitality for lonesome soldiers and what better occasion could there be for driving away the gloom that sometimes foregathers in the war zone than on Christmas day?

So the Hospitality League has asked for 1,000 homes; and they got them. Which means that 2,000 American soldiers may have what it takes to drive away homesickness on the one day of all days, when a fellow wants good companionship. The boys go to a house, so that 2,000 are taken care of in 1,000 homes.

Turkeys are reasonably plentiful. For a time the plum pudding was in danger because of lack of currants and other proper ingredients, but now that Fritz has faded away, the shipping minister has decreed that currants may be spared to move the currants that lay in a distant port, just waiting to be transported and transformed into plum pudding.

In addition to the 2,000 who will have their real Merry Christmas in homes in or near London, there will be 1,000 others invited out for the afternoon tea and evening supper.

NAVY YARD NOTES

Can Wear it 90 Days

Members of the Naval Reserve Force will be allowed to wear their regulation uniform three months after discharge, according to an announcement from Washington. The uniform may also be worn at meetings of reservists, at funerals or memorial exercises, or at conventions. It must be worn when the men are called for training or mobilization and must be kept in good condition.

Wants 70,000 Retained

Permanent maintenance of the Marine Corps at nearly its present strength will be necessary for the adequate protection of American interests, if the American bigger navy and merchant marine program is to be carried out, Major-General Barnett told the House Naval Affairs committee on Thursday. Barnett said that it was proposed to keep the Marine Corps at a strength of 70,000 men, or only 5,000 fewer men than its present personnel.

Deserve Much Credit

The employees of the local navy yard are certainly entitled to much credit for their initial theatrical work at the Portsmouth Theatre on Thursday night. It was a clean and clever performance on the part of the women, especially. All through it could be seen that Director Quinn had not labored in vain. It also showed that Portsmouth has some talent, that should have been heard from long before now. The theatre-going public

The parents of the young man were pleased to receive the news that he was safe, not having heard from him from some weeks and knowing he was in the front lines.

NORTH CHURCH HAS PARISH RECEPTION

The parish gathering at the North Church parish house last evening brought out a large gathering of that society and many of the new-comers and the occasion was a pleasant event to all in attendance.

The chapel had a festive appearance in its attractive decorations in the Christmas colors. The adornings being in general charge of Mrs. Charles P. Berry.

Pine boughs, laurel wreaths and red ribbon streamers were used in the decorative scheme and the chapel never looked prettier. The boughs were arranged over the door and tied in the center with red ribbon streamers from each side of the entrance. A large wreath caught with streamers of red. The platform was banked with pine and at the back hung two large silk American flags.

The parishioners and friends were pleasantly greeted by the pastor, Rev. Lucius H. Thayer, and wife and the meeting and greeting of friends, parishioners and new-comers, made the evening one of pleasant interest.

Mrs. F. W. Burford was hostess, assisted by Mrs. Frank D. Butler, Mrs. Marion Wright, Mrs. Chick, Mrs. A. W. Scarborough and Miss Clyde Spinnery.

The serving tables were faintly set with silver and china and each beautifully with a glass jar of red berries and leaves and candelabra with red candles. Mrs. Albert D. Foster and Mrs. Ralph G. Stoddard presided at one table and Mrs. Fred Hayes and Mrs. Nichols at the other. Assorted cake, fancy wafers, coffee and chocolate with whipped cream were served.

The young women of the parish assisted in serving. Miss Lizzie D. Tripp also assisted the refreshment committee.

Enlisted men were given an informal invitation to attend the gathering and a number were present, enlivening the latter part of the evening by chorus singing as they grouped around the piano.

NO QUININE IN THIS COLD CURE

"Pape's Cold Compound" ends colds and grippe in a few hours.

Take "Pape's Cold Compound" every two hours until you have taken three doses, then all grippe misery goes and your cold will be broken. It promptly opens your clogged-up nostrils and all passages of the head; stops sneezing, discharge of nose, running; relieves the headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling. Breathe your throbbing head—nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only a few cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Accept no substitute.

NOTES OF THE BIG HIT

Too much credit cannot be given to Mr. Henry J. Quinn under whose personal direction the entire production was carried out. It was mainly due to Mr. Quinn's untiring effort that the show was such a success. It is needless to say that Mr. Quinn has always produced a show well worth seeing. His first attempt in Portsmouth was a most decided success. It seems quite likely that he may be called upon again.

The dancing of the pony ballet was most exceptional and well worth going a long distance to see.

It is very difficult to give any one of the ends more credit than any of the others for each and every end sang and performed to perfection.

The opening medley overture was undoubtedly the finest overture that was ever produced in this part of the country.

The solo ballads offered by Miss Maria Hill and Mr. Thomas J. Brennan were well received and scored decided hits.

The entire act entitled "A Good Fellow" written by Claude Whitley was an act that well balanced the musical part of the show.

Miss Nellie Warren and Mr. Frank Brannigan who rendered the duo, "I'd Like to Sail to Loveland" was not only well received but likewise encored quite a few times. Mr. Thomas J. Muller's rendering of "Beatrice Fairfax" was well received. Mr. Muller was called back eight times. The way Ernest Heywood broke in with his part was a caution and his Slippery Slim song entitled "Woodman Spare That Tree," might well stand any married man in good stead. Mr. Clifford Picot in his end song, "When I Get Out in No Man's Land" was humorous and realistic.

The musical comedy entitled "In Quarantine" was offered as the second part of the show and those taking part in the cast performed their work decidedly well. Many of the cast stood out somewhat better than the other. Mention should be made of Miss Dorothy Phillips who took the part of Mollie, Miss Eleanor Reich, who took the part of Margaret, Joseph Taylor who took the part of Johnny and Alex Zubkus who took the part of the organ grinder.

Mr. Joseph Taylor who took the part of Johnny and who sang the songs, "Give Me the Moonlight," "The Rose of No Man's Land," and the duo "Don't You Tell," (with Miss Eleanor Reich) was probably the most decided hit of the evening. The musical numbers which he sang were unusually good. Mr. Taylor's naturalness on the stage was likewise particularly noticeable and commended upon.

Mr. Wallace Richardson who took the part of the sergeant in the cast and who sang the song "America," likewise sang well. A tableau scene not only delightful, exquisite was worked in conjunction with the singing of the song, "America." The grand finale bringing in the various spirits of '76, '01, '08 and '18, and the grand chorus brought the show to a close with a bang.

The electrical display work showing the Portsmouth Red Cross and other electrical effects were well arranged and credit should be given to Mr. Jack Bethie.

Few people were aware of the fact that the orchestra which rendered the music was not organized until two weeks ago. The orchestra played unusually well considering the short time that they were together.

It may well be said that the show was a most decided success and that each and every person taking part in the show performed so well that it was very difficult to give any special credit to any one.

SOME FIRST HAND NEWS FROM TRENCHES TO DISCOURAGE WAR GARDENS

Verdon, France.
Sunday, Nov. 24th, 1918.
My dear Dad:—Today is "Father's Day" over here and I am writing you as all the other fellows are doing to their fathers.

Have been resting up in the hospital for a few days. I was in the last big American push and didn't realize how much of a push it really had been for me until several days after the Armistice had been signed. However, we were all weak because of so little food. The congestion on the front was terrible, hundreds of thousands of men were concentrated in this sector, and it was quite out of the question for our transportation including rationing to get through. Therefore several days sure-enough were "wheelless" and "meatless." However, there is no kick the War has been won and Americans won it, believe me! You can't hold back the American soldiers!

I shall never forget the "quietness" that fell over everything after 11:00 a. m., Nov. 11th, 1918. It was quite weird. But a few minutes before the boys had been giving them hell!

"Things are awfully slow now—days and time hangs very heavy on a fellow's shoulders." We do not know how long before we start back but that Great Day looms up like the statue of Liberty. In a month I will have my service strip, six months foreign service in France. I left, you know, June 27th, and Dec. 27th, is six months to my credit, away from the only real country. Expect to come back to Portsmouth on my return for a while anyway, so look out for me one of these days.

Tomorrow I leave to join the outfit which is eighty miles from here at a place called Chailion-sau-Selme. May get my leave in a few days, then I leave for Paris, Nice, Bordeaux, and other real towns.

Well, I don't feel much like I thought I would now that "La Guerre Finis" but I am mighty happy to think that some day real soon I shall see you folks again!

Hoping you all have a Happy Xmas, and a Very Happy New Year. My love to all the family, don't forget any one.

Your son,
MORRISON.

The above is from a letter from Morrison Margeson to his father, R. C. Margeson.

"TIZ" FOR TIRED AND SORE FEET

Use "Tiz" for puffed-up, burning, aching, calloused feet and corns.

"Happy! Happy! Use 'Tiz'!"

Why go limping around with aching, puffed-up feet—feet so tired, chafed, sore and swollen you can hardly get your shoes on or off? Why don't you get a 25-cent box of "Tiz" from the drug store now and gladden your tortured feet?

"Tiz" makes your feet glow with comfort! Takes down swellings and draws the soreness and misery right out of feet that chafe, smart and burn. "Tiz" instantly stops pain in corns, callouses and bunions. "Tiz" is glorious for tired, aching, sore feet. No more shoe tightness—no more foot troubles.

OBITUARY

James Henry Amazeen.

He has been employed on the navy yard for years, and worked up to Wednesday evening, but he was taken ill on Thursday and died in a short time. He leaves a wife and two sisters, Mrs. T. S. Wentworth of this city and Mrs. Louise Amazeen of Somerville; and one brother, Rev. R. K. Amazeen of Doyers.

Among those who received honorable mention were George Bradley French, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. French of Middle street, for excellence in French; Philip A. Marston and Vinthrop S.

Marston of North Hampton were among those who were classed as honor men of the second group.

OBSEQUIES

George H. Spinney.

The funeral of George H. Spinney was held at two o'clock on Thursday afternoon from the home of his sister, Mrs. Carl Svensson, on Hunking street. Rev. L. H. Thayer, D. D., officiating. The body was placed in the receiving tomb under the direction of O. W. Main.

SOME THINGS THE WAR HAS DONE FOR US

It has sharpened and expanded our sense of justice.

It has revived observance of our first law—self-defense.

It has awakened us to our duty to the family of nations.

It has unmasked shortcomings hitherto buried in our conceal.

It has given us a much needed lesson in selfishness.

It has culled our national sin of wastefulness.

It has shown us our friends in the hour of national peril.

It has offered us a new lesson in co-operation.

It has helped to level artificial class barriers.

It has aroused, unified, enriched American brotherhood.

It has revitalized and ennobled our national soul.

It has made us better citizens, better humans altogether.

It has brought, we hope, the dawn of universal peace.

CRIPPLED SOLDIERS MAY MAKE TOYS

New York, Dec. 20.—Thousands of crippled soldiers would be offered employment making toys. It has been announced at the annual convention of the Toy Manufacturers of America.

More than 100 of the largest producers in the trade are attending, with H. C. Ives, president of Bridgeport, Conn., as chairman.

Materials with which toys may be made will be sent to crippled soldiers who are unable to leave their homes. The work is declared to be light and interesting and the demand great, because the war has cut down the importing of foreign-made goods.

NAVY YARD MINSTRELS MAKE A HIT

Pleased Big Audience at the Portsmouth Theatre in Opening Performance

The employees of the navy yard scored a decided hit at the Portsmouth Theatre on Thursday evening when they put across in fine shape a very excellent mixed minstrel show. The first part of the show was exceptionally good and in fact it compares very favorably with anything ever presented here by amateurs. The entire company showed good training, they sang well and the different numbers were finely rendered, while the ends were good and had some good stuff which they handled well.

The performances, for they play again this evening, is for the benefit of the Portsmouth Red Cross, and there was a large audience present and they were well pleased with the first effort of the navy yard entertainers. The entire organization with the exception of one soloist are employed on the yard, this included a large and well trained orchestra, all of the principals, a large chorus and a very sprightly pony ballet, and the young lady singers. The stage setting was effective, a brilliant Red Cross having a prominent position, and the entire performance went with a snap that was pleasing.

The show was under the personal direction of Henry J. Quinn of Haverhill, who has been training the company for some weeks and he is entitled to considerable credit for his good work. The opening was along the minstrel lines, with a second part that included two sketches and the closing numbers were very good.

Thomas Lynch was the interlocutor and he handled that difficult part well. The soloists were Miss Marie Hill, who rendered two solos and Thomas J. Brennan, a very pleasing singer.

There were two sets of ends, Carlton Coffin and Wallace Richardson, and Thomas J. Mullen and Clifford Picott. Mullen was the hit of the show with his song, "Beatrice Fairfax, Tell Me," which were all local hits and they were well rendered. He had to respond to six or eight encores and he had a different local verse for every one. Mullen had some good end stuff which he put over well. Picott also had some good end jokes and his song, "When I Get Out in No Man's Land," was well rendered, introducing Master Donnell Butler, who did a dance that was clever. He is a little bit of a shaver, but he danced and turned cart wheels like a veteran and to the great delight of the audience.

Richardson and Coffin were also good and both sang their songs in fine shape.

Nellie Barron and Frank Branigan in the song, "I Like to Sail to Love-land," and a dance, received a well merited recall.

A pony ballet consisting of six young ladies added materially to the opening. They were well trained and danced exceptionally well.

The finale, a patriotic medley, was well done, using all of the company in a marching act that was good. It also introduced the young girls in a brief drill.

The second part consisted of a one act sketch entitled a "Good Fellow," and a musical comedy "In Quarantine." This presented several good musical numbers including "Give Me the Moonlight," by Joseph Taylor and Ponies, a special skating act by Huren H. Roberts, a solo with chorus of Red Cross nurses, by Miss Eleanor Releh, and a song, "Don't You Tell," by Miss Releh and Mr. Taylor.

The finale entitled "America," spelled out in electric lights and with features, was by Wallace Richardson and company and it was a fitting wind-up of a very good performance.

The performance this evening should be even better than the opening show, although that went along as smoothly as could be wished.
